Compliment them for the smallest things, spend a lot of time with them, understand their emotions ar yourself as the only person they can depend on, trust, be honest, express themselves, but don't make obvious, connect with them deeply inside, emtional (mabye spiritually even? if that's possible...)

Step 2 - More Trust

Now that you've connected with them deeply inside, build more trust and make them want to talk to y them laugh and bring positive emotions and support them, here's a trick but use it carefully as it can n you on danger too - Share a secret with them, and the person will be more open to you, indirectly ma tell a secret or two, and be careful not to reveal your acutal and embarrassing secrets and lead to you eventually, now you can use techniques like blackmailing here, but its your choice, and be careful som can be illegal

Step 3 - Ghost them

Now ghost them, don't talk until they talk, make them feel a little lonely, but not too much, and then u make them keep reaching out to you, make them dependent on you, and now that their dependent, s gaining power and control over them and that's all

Step 4 - Collect the Data

Data is key! Get the most out of them, like embarrassing secrets, illegal and unethical activities done by as I mentioned the trick you can use earlier to get their secrets, use it while keeping yourself safe, and know? most people are open and most likely to tell their secrets at night, and if you suspect someone just give them a stare in complete silence, and most likely they'll reveal it

Step 5 - POWER

Now that you got the juicy information, use it against them and gain complete control over them, but illegal, you can force them like to your needs and do whatever but this mostly depends on what kind of vulnerability of the secrets, the key is to stay patient and get the most data you can

Chapter 2: Gaslighting

Gaslighting can be illegal and most likely is, it can make someone question their own reality and some used right can make someone miserable and feeling severe emotions that could cause nerve damage, probably I'm just exaggerating... Now without wasting time I'll explain how it's done let's start with an

Imagine

One day, I meet you we're friends and your talking about your first birthday, and as a teenager or and most likely would have forgotten your 1st year birthday completely, and I say that I was at your birthday question sparks up in your head "Was he there? or not?" a dilemma, and you say like "I think so... I was red balloon, right?" and I go like "No, you were holding a blue balloon" and you deny and we both start arguing and then I strongly say "I am 100% sure, that you had a blue balloon not a red balloon" I'd say don't remember it and other lies, when it was actually a red balloon, you could also say pink as it is more to red and more likely to make the person believe it, but that's another story, so your most likely going to say yes or rarely no, but when I bring in some friends of ours and make them say it's a blue one, you have a chance of believing this

Now that example is small scale, and if your an older person your more vulnerable, if we you want you can increase from simple white lies to complex schemes, and if you understood this completely, you can see the potential of this, you can make someone question their own reality, make them go insane, the possibilities are ENDLESS!

Chapter 3: Separation

Now with some tricks up your sleeve, and more studying you can make your own plan, but before that explore separating people, just for the fun of it (or maybe for other intentions)

Let's say one of your friends, and another friend of theirs exist for some reason... Sometimes your just lonely, awkward, the pain of ignorance... But your not an emotional idiot are you? are at least 1/2 of the time... Now their just took close for their own good, your left out! You have to gain dominance use simple and complex lies, spread rumors and misinformation when their not around, but be careful be done without anyones notice or suspect and carefully, it's a delicate process, tell your friend when they're not there, you can use many lies, like he's betraying you, secretly hates you, spreads rumors about you gaslighting here too, and along with the process use love bombing too, slowly but surely break their relationship, a key tool is humor, use humor in disguise and make a lot of rumors staying anonymous, conflict between this two, stay neutral if possible which may not be possible sometimes, then pick a side and get a little out of hand but don't immediately try to stay neutral, keep doing this until their relationship is broken, and build yours, after a while when they both are no longer in relationship anymore, love bomb and gain power and control, use method in this section mentioned above, make a full-proof plan and your dominance!
